FACTS FOR FARMERS

Some news of special interest to our farm subscribers

HOW TO BEAT THAT SUMMER MILK SLUMP

Cows have been going through that summer drop in production for so long that many farmers consider it almost inevitable. A combination of flies by day and mosquitoes at night, hot weather and dried out pastures make a slump seem logical. Maybe some of these preventative will work for you.

Keep good hay in a rack in the pasture all the time. It's also extra insurance against blots if the cows are on "cleopatra" pastures. Supply extra grain during the pasture season and increase it without waiting for falling milk production as a warning.

Hold your best pastures for night grazing.

Rotate and clip pastures regularly so that new growth is provided. Try moving an electric fence around the field to fit it in so it divides into strips for alternate grazing.

Barley regularly for flies and mosquitoes.

Most some of the first hay crop into silage for late summer feeding.

Good rape or kale. These green feeds will be available in late summer.

Don't let the cows go more than two or three hours without water. Provide running water or buckets. Cows don't sweat much and milk production will go down if water isn't available in lower body temperatures. Supply clean, cool water at easily reached places.

If there are no trees on the pasture, build a simple pole roof.

on pole supports and cover the roof with straw or netting. Make this temporary structure big enough for all the cows to rest under during the hot part of the day—Farms News.

Howard E. Wellington

It was with deep sadness and shock to the village of Woodville and surrounding community to learn of the sudden, but peaceful passing of a very dear friend and neighbor, Howard E. Wellington at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. George McKague, May 18th, Sunday evening, Mother's Day, 1959.

Mr. Wellington was the beloved husband of Margaret E. Brown, who predeceased him October 4, 1928 and loving father of their only child, Violet May, who passed away June 10, 1958, and 14 Mr. Wellington was one of Woodville's most highly respected and well-loved gentlemen, with a very kind and cheerful personality and sterling qualities that endeared him to all he came in contact with, through the years.

He was a member of the United Church, Woodville, a member of the Session. He loved his church and attended regularly while health permitted. Prior to his death he had, Mr. Wellington was united in marriage by Rev. C. E. Craig of the parish clergy at the lovely old farm house of the bride, to his daughter, Mrs. Margaret McKague, daughter of the late Mr. Alex and Sarah Brown, Marquette 13 Km. He farmed for several years on the farm now owned by Mr. George Owen. Howard was the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Wellington and only brother of their only daughter, Ida, who passed away July 7, 1928.

In his last previous year Mr. Wellington suffered a lot of heart and pain, but always carried his cross with a cheerful sunny smile as a good Christian soldier, faithful to the end of his course of life. The lovely Sisters from the church bazaar and many loving friends allently spoke of their love and deep respect.

The funeral was held at the Standard Funeral Home with Rev. R. V. Vasey officiating, leaving a beautiful remembrance of flowers and grave-ropes when loved one was called home into their Heavenly Father's loving arms to be reunited with loved ones. Pallbearers were three nephews and three cousins: James Brown, Milton McKague, Orville Whistler, George Owen, Clark Myers, and Charles Thimble.

Burnt River

News for week ending May 30th.

This community was deeply saddened to hear of the sudden passing of the late James Wood, of Burnt River. Mr. Wood was a former school teacher here, and raised many friends. The sympathy goes out to the family and his wife, the former Ethel Hamilton, of Burnt River.

Several from the county attended the Burnt River get-together to renew old acquaintances, held in the Moose Hall, Lindsay, on Saturday evening last. Much news was due to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horne for the evening of entertainment and the efforts put forth.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horne of Lindsay were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Henson.

Despite weather, many attend Open House at Fenelon High School

By L. W. WINTER

Fenelon High School was exceptionally well attended in spite of the thunderstorm with heavy rain coming at a most inopportune time. Each teacher received the guests in her own room and the display of student work in each room evidenced excellent work in the past of both students and teachers. Craft drawings by students of Grade 11A in Mr. J. D. Thompson's room showed much unexpected talent in scenes from Latin and Medieval history. No art being taught in the school. Drawings were by Stan Beall, Jackson Oliver, Bob Hollenberger and Gary Appleton. Displays in the shop were mainly woodwork, lamp tables, desks, etc. but there was one display of metal work. In the Home Economics room, sewing was displayed and several girls demonstrated how to make Danish pastry and banana muffins "on the spot." Needless to say the goodies disappeared rapidly.

Choral numbers by the school choir under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Sims provided enjoyable musical entertainment. Light refreshments were served in the cafeteria lunch room, prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Anne Kelly in the Home Economics room. It is to be expected, so say all displays seemed to be equally good and the general opinion seems to be "This was the best open house we have ever attended!"

June bride-elect

The shower was planned by Madeline's girl friends and neighbours. Gifts were welcomed at the door at 2 p.m.

Acquaintances Webster read a presentation address and Jean Webster and Lou White assisted Madeline in opening the gifts which were then passed around for all to see. Games and contests were enjoyed during the remainder of the evening, under the direction of Mrs. George Martin. Madeline graciously thanked her friends and neighbours for their gifts and good wishes and delicious refreshments were served. ## No hurry you can sow right up to July

It is impossible to over emphasize the importance of the gardener taking his time when it comes to the actual sowing of seeds and setting out of plants. There is no hurry about this business and the more it is spread out the longer the feast of garden fresh vegetables and the display of bloom.

In most parts of Canada one can go on growing vegetables and flowers right up to the first of July, with excellent prospects of success. And in some of the warmer areas it is quite possible to sow such things as beans, corn, carrots, lettuce, spinach and lettuce every two weeks into July.

The main thing is to spread out the planting season so that the harvest and pleasure and satisfaction will also be spread out. So often one sees a beautiful display of bloom in July and some wonderful vegetables only to find in a few weeks later that practically everything is finished. With a bit of help for nature in the way of watering, fertilizing and cultivation the garden can be made to produce an abundance of tender and top quality vegetables right up to the first frost and later.

TRANSPLANTING

Some people seem to think that there is a mystery about transplanting that only those with a green thumb, whatever that is, can be successful in moving plants or trees or shrubs. This is a lot of horse power. All that is needed is to keep in mind a few important points.

First, in moving anything whatever it is preferable out of a flat or a three year old maple or apple tree, don't expose the roots to the air for a moment longer than absolutely necessary. Run and air will kill roots, that's why nature puts them below ground.

Second, spread out the roots and cover with fine soil and press down firmly.

Third, water well and keep moist.

USE YOUR HEAD, DON'T ABUSE YOUR EYES

Summertime means long beach vacation days, days in which people are exposed to brilliant sunshine for long periods of time. It is therefore a good idea to look about the eyes from possible harmful effects of exposure to strong sunlight. The Canadian Association of Optometrists calls attention to this fact and offers this: "Considering how important good eyesight is, it is amazing how careless people are in the care of their eyes. We do not stop to think that good eyesight depends on a delicate mechanism which must work properly and in perfect harmony."

"For instance," the association goes on to say "anyone who drives a car is exposed to glare. This might well cause a temporary night blindness, which could cause an accident when he drives home that same night. This is caused by the bleaching of the visual purple in the back of the eye."

"That is why fighter and bomber plane pilots going on night missions, wear dark goggles that take away the light and make good glasses that you take the family to the beach who should wear dark glasses during the brilliant part of the day. A temporary bleaching of the visual purple is not a particularly harmful, but it reduces night vision enough to be potentially dangerous in driving a car."

"A trick that will help out on long vacation drives is to wear eye shades. These shades are like sunglasses fixed on the road ahead for mile after mile, quickly becomes asleep and may actually doze, with disastrous results."

Eyes actually become less tired if they are moved regularly from side to side and up and down while you are driving. Also, by using your eyes in this way you avoid your eyes becoming tired."

Yes, it is important to wear sunglasses for eye protection. It is equally important to buy sunglasses which meet your individual requirements.

OLD NEWSPAPERS RECORD HISTORY . . .

For many years the use of newspapers was printed, the field of communication has altered and many attempts have been made to supplant the printed word. Needless to say they have all been unsuccessful. It would be a colossal mistake to predict that the printed word will succeed. The reason for this is simple: the printed word lasts, it has an inherent quality not to be replaced. In fact, the function of a newspaper might well be considered to be of a historical nature. . . . It deals with current history in news form and this in turn becomes a form of historical record in the past.

This fact was brought home with the receipt of two old papers found by Lindsay residents this week. The first was "The Canadian Post" and the other "The Canadian Post," predecessor to the "Lindsay Daily Post" and "The Thursday Post." Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Patton, the finders, have loaned them to the Lindsay Public Library.

Two items of historical interest to the community were contained in these papers. In "The Weekly Victoria Post" (1878), an item on the opening of the Victoria Railway appeared. "The Victoria Post" reported, "was opened Tuesday (Nov. 8th) from Lindsay to Kinsouton, a distance of 33 miles, over which the train was 'The Canadian Post'." The road is in excellent condition, and the proceedings connected with the opening of the line passed off in the most satisfactory manner. "The Canadian Post" of March 2nd, 1877, records the renaming of Victoria to Kinsouton. At a public meeting held there the week previous it was resolved to call this thriving place "Victoria Town." The name was not changed, but the name was indeed in an historical item of interest. . . . Victoria Town has been referred to as Victoria Road for many years and the name was changed to the article, it should be called "Victoria Town."

These illustrations serve to show the lasting quality of a newspaper and their enduring value to a community. It is not surprising that the Victoria County Historical Society will no doubt find help in establishing certain data through the medium of old newspapers, especially those published in this district. The society is also interested in the preservation of historical newspapers.

A RECURRING AND CONTINUING PROBLEM

This district has been fortunate this spring insofar as bush fires are concerned. There have been very few and not nearly as many as might be expected had the season been dry. The heavy and frequent rains have done a lot toward keeping the fire hazard at a minimum. In spite of this it is important to keep the fire hazard rating rates following a few days very warm weather.

The Dept. of Lands and Forests reminds people that in the event of a fire, they should always present in the warm weather months and one of the greatest single contributing factors seems to be careless smoking. People should be reminded that they should not smoke and they should not make sure their fire is out before moving on.

Anyone who has travelled through an area when a fire was in progress knows something of the great destruction in time and money. They are aware of the desolation which a bush fire causes and know the fact that it takes years to regrow trees assayed by the destruction of the forest. They are aware of the hardship and they will not doubt be among the first to endorse such suggestions as are advanced by Forest Protection Supervisor Walter Kilt of Lindsay. They will not doubt be among the first to endorse such suggestions as are advanced by Forest Protection Supervisor Walter Kilt of Lindsay. They will not doubt be among the first to endorse such suggestions as are advanced by Forest Protection Supervisor Walter Kilt of Lindsay.

1. Do not smoke or use material from camp at any time. Use your ash tray.
2. Do not smoke while walking in the woods. If you must smoke keep it and do so.
3. Extinguish any smoking material before continuing on your journey.

4. Break your match in two before lighting it.
5. Do not light fire in any place where it is not necessary. Carry a lunch and a thermos bottle.
6. Make sure your camp fire is completely out before leaving the area.

LEAD PENCILS — HOW AND WHERE THEY ARE MADE

There are several varieties of pencils found in the rocks in different parts of the world, some of which are good for one use, and others for other uses, and it happens that one of these varieties is fine-grained, soft, nearly free from grit, and well adapted for writing with, and this kind has received the name of graphite from Greek words meaning black and stone.

In 1564, there was discovered in the county of Cumberland, in the northwest corner of England, a mine of the best and purest graphite that had ever been found. The material was soft and fine and strong, and free from grit or sandy particles, that it could be sawed into sheets and these could be sawed again into little narrow strips without breaking. These little strips of graphite, being soft, and smooth, and black, were enclosed in round pieces of some soft wood, the grooves used to receive and hold them and that was the modern lead-pencil as it is intended and purposes.

This mine at Borrowdale in Cumberland, at once became very celebrated and of course very valuable. People all over the world have been better adapted for all uses, blacker or faster, harder or softer, than ever could be made of the best Cumberland lead by the old method. The mode of treating the plumbago by the modern method is described in a French work and consists simply in mixing the powdered and purified plumbago with powdered clay, in a certain manner, and then pressing the mixture into pencils, pressing and bagging the mass, varying the treatment according to the different grades of pencils required.

From The Weekly Globe, November 17, 1876.

WHEN THEY MAKE IT SO

Counting can be the safest of sports—when given, especially passengers make it so. Common sense and common sense is the only way to get the most out of a perfect boat and day.

Know your boat's best what it will take under any circumstances. Avoid sharp turns. Avoid overloading. Don't stop in ice preserves. When boarding a boat, step into its centre. Avoid changing places except at the bow or stern.

Slit down in your boat! Sure, you can bait-cast or fly-cast much more easily standing up—but you can't see the fish as well as when you are lying, losing your expensive tackle, and maybe your eye.

Even when fishing shallow waters near shore, leap to fish sitting—or kneeling on the bottom if in a canoe—keeping the centre of gravity low and your stability high!

In every way, play it safe!

—Dept. of Lands and Forests

EXHAUSTED

At last the carpal tunnel and truly laid!

With the weeks, the cast of characters had grown. There were First Measurer, Third Carpal Layer, First Inspector, Second Inspector, Second Measurer, and finally, Second and Third Carpal Layers. The original error in measuring had led to four more appointments and kept the cheerful tourist passing through the office in a state of confusion.

Plastic-paneled van

A new type of commercial delivery van body made entirely from reinforced polyester resin has been designed and manufactured by Samsbury Engineering Ltd., Samsbury, near Blackburn, Lancashire, England. A number of prefabricated panels can be joined and built up into any size of chassis.

There is no need for the van to be reinforced resin panels: one for the sides and one for the roof. Each panel is flanged on all four sides and is joined to the chassis by small nuts and bolts through the flanges. The joints are reinforced with a material for each panel has moulded-in reinforcing ribs, also made from polyester resin, which give them enough rigidity. The joints are designed to resist the floor and bearers by light alloy angles.

This type of body work has an excellent weight-strength ratio. Minor repairs can be made quite easily with resin and glass fibre. The body is so strong that more extensive repairs are needed a complete prefabricated panel can be unbolted and replaced in about 15 minutes. The body is also made from reinforced resin, which give them enough rigidity. The joints are designed to resist the floor and bearers by light alloy angles.

Impregnated concrete panels instead of the natural colour finish.

The panels are said to be also suitable for the manufacture of containers, portable sheds, garages and other prefabricated buildings.

Jr. Farmers carry on competition in rain, but numbers reduced

The annual Ontario county Junior Farmer Live Stock Judging Competition was held in the Oakwood-Woodville district and in spite of the heavy rain which lasted most of the day, a total of 60 Junior Farmers and 418 Club members came out and took part. This is a decrease from last year when there were 12 contestants in attendance. However, the drop in numbers can be largely attributed to the indifferent weather conditions.

Registration for the competition took place in the Oakwood Hall, following which the group moved to the farm of Charles Lane, near Oakwood, where a class of Duroc Hogs was judged. The next call was at the farm of David Levanthoush for a class of Yorkshire pigs. Two classes of shorthorn calves and a class of Jersey old maid cows were judged at the farm of Robt. Piel also of Oakwood. The final call for the day was at the farm of Mc, C. L. and Sons near Woodville where two classes of Holstein cows were judged.

The contestants in the competition were divided into three groups. These were the novice section which included all contestants under 18 years of age who were taking part in the competition for the first time; the Junior section which included all other contestants under 18 years of age and the Senior section which included all contestants from 18 to 25 years of age inclusive by May 2nd. There were 34 contestants in the Novice section, twenty-five in the Junior section and seven in the Senior section.

Assisting with the competition were Hens. Harry Assolade, Registrar for Peterborough County who was the official judge on the Holstein class, Alvin Blades, Assistant Representative for Ontario County who acted as the official judge on the Shorthorn class and Bruce Taylor, a young farmer from Durham County who was the official judge on the class of Yorkshire pigs. Charles Lane of Oakwood assisted in a dual capacity by providing a class of Duroc Hogs and by acting as official judge on the class as well.

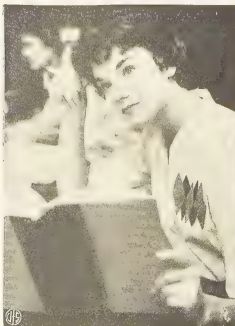

The high contestant in the competition was Ken Tamm, R. R. No. 1, Woodville who will receive a handsome silver trophy which is donated by Master Friends of Lindsey for the high judge in the competition. The Canadian National Exhibition should be presented to the high judge who was Shelia Nicholls. There are some who will recall that Shelia's brother, Allan, was the high novice judge in the first Live Stock Judging Competition. Silverwood's Daisies Lindsey donated a ten-dollar cash award which is to be used towards expenses at a Short Course for the Ontario Agricultural College. Ontario's high novice judge in the yearling cattle section and that was won by Ken Tamm, R. R. No. 1, Woodville. The Ladies Branch of the Victoria and Grey Trust Company donated a ten dollar cash award to the high judge in the Ontario Agricultural College Short Course for the high judge in the yearling cattle section and that was won by Robert Gerrill, R. R. No. 1, Woodville.

Two ten-dollar medals donated by the Quaker Oats Company of Canada for expenses at the Ontario Agricultural College Short Course were won by Denis Monaghan, Oakwood, the high senior judge in the head cattle section and Ben Cameron, the high junior judge in the beef cattle section.

The manager of the Victoria Farm Supply, Lindsey, donated 10 lbs. of Potatoes to the high judge in the Potatoes section and Homer Schreiber, Dundas, was the winner. A similar prize provided by the manager of the Victoria Farm Supply for the high judge in the same section was won by Leonard Ortle, R. R. No. 2, Boboyouan. A five-dollar purchase voucher was donated by the Lindsey District Co-operative, Lindsey, to the high judge in the entire section who is a member of a 1939 4-H Live Stock Club and this was won by Homer Schreiber, Dundas.

The high contestants in the various classes of the competition were as follows: Senior Section—Ken Tamm, R. R. No. 1, Woodville; 2nd—Denis Monaghan, Oakwood; and Hugh McFarlane, Oakwood (1st); 4th—Homer Schreiber, Dundas; Junior Section—1st—George Piel, Oakwood; 2nd—Alan Nicholls, Argyll; 3rd—Barry Lang, No. 4, Cramore; 4th—Ber. Kay, No. 1, Cramore; Novice Section—1st—Shelia Nicholls, Argyll; 2nd—Leonard Ortle, R. R. No. 2, Boboyouan; 3rd—Arvin Elwood, No. 1, Brechin; 4th—Bruce Ryan, No. 1, Woodville.

The competition was under the auspices of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Lindsey, which supplied the foregoing information on its outcome.

BRANDY BELIE — Proving that brainy gals can be beautiful, too, 21-year-old Susan Bagley cracks a look at Southern Methodist University. A Journalism and English major, Susan has made Phi Beta Kappa, the top honor society, and has also won the beauty title of Miss Dallas.

SUNKEN TREASURE—What looks like a grim climax to a kidnapping story is really a happy ending as Alfred Sims (left) and his brother Neil fish out Bronze baby from Robbo Lake, just south of Memphis, Tenn. Valued at $1,200, the statue was stolen two weeks earlier from the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery in Memphis. Created 17 years ago by New York sculptor Elizabeth Parsons, the work was returned to its rightful place by the Sims brothers, who bought it as a real baby when they first spied it in the water while fishing.

JOY UNCONFINED — Embroidering a Father's Day gift for her 4,351 Dada, 11-year-old Diamante Samartak works at her home in Tripoli, Greece. "I'm a free-kick-fled youngster was 'adopted' through Father Parents' Plan by the inmates of San Quentin prison in California. She wrote to the prisoners: 'My parents, brothers and sisters send you regards and a thousand thanks. I send to each one of you separately my big love.'

FLOTILLA OF FAITH — Staging a strange religious procession, ships of all sizes crowd the Rhine River in a voyage from Muehlen to Cologne, West Germany. Held on Corpus Christi Day, the river voyage was climaxed by a grand parade from the river bank to Cologne Cathedral, with thousands of pilgrims on land joining those who arrived by water.

CHATTER BOXES—No call contestants, these isolation-boothed cadets at the College Royal Militaire in Quebec, Canada, are polishing their language skills in both French and English. Listening and speaking back to recorded instructions at the bilingual college, the students are being trained for careers in the Canadian Army, Navy and Air Force. In a course that lasts for three years, the future officers speak only French for the first half of each month, and only English for the second half. Usually, the college assigns a French and an English-speaking cadet as dormitory roommates so they can help each other in learning the other language.

FIT FOR A PRINCESS—Pressed to "put up or shut up" after his recent much-publicized criticism of British Princess Margaret's clothes, designer Emilio Schuberth says she'd look fine in any one of these styles he's whipped up in Rome. Schuberth attacked as "too severe" the clothes worn on a visit to Rome by the 28-year-old Princess, and insists that she should wear more "juvenile" designs.

MODERN MADONNA—Represented as a modern teenager, Mary listens to a barefoot angel Gabriel tell her that she has conceived a son of God in this painting of "The Annunciation," displayed by 21-year-old Boston artist Paolo Masca. Part of an exhibition called "The Madonna in Contemporary Art," the work has drawn widely disparate comments — "close to marriage," "a genuine reverence." Masca says he has done nothing different from the great Renaissance painters, who used the clothes of their time for their Madonnas. The controversial painting was shown in Italy's first modern religious art gallery, in the basement of Rome's Church of St. Mary.

THE WORM TURNS—Oodles of noodle? Nostrise — It's the squirms of worms that are displayed by 12-year-old Richard Kress of Tropicana, Kan. He estimates that there are 5,000 silkworms in his colony, which started two years ago with only 12 of the creatures, thanks to the youngster by his fourth-grade teacher. Now, Richard has boxes of the silkworms at his home, and his big job is keeping them supplied with mulberry leaves, their sole food.

Dear Friends:

This year marks our 10th anniversary in Lindsay, and we like to feel we have made some contribution to the growth and prosperity of our town during these years.

Many will recall our first manufacturing plant located in the 6th Valders on the Bobcaygeon road. Since then, we have built a large, modern plant and have expanded on seven occasions. This has provided considerable employment to the construction people living in our community, in addition to the over 350 employees now on our payroll.

Management of Visking have never regretted locating here. We have always enjoyed splendid co-operation from Council and the citizens of Lindsay, and look forward to a continuation of this relationship for many more years.

We wish to thank you at this time for your past support and co-operation; for without it, all this would not have been possible.

Sincerely yours,

11 organizations represented at senior citizens' forum, fall start is projected

Representatives of 11 organizations attended a meeting here last night at the Queen Street Senior Citizens' Club (Church St. and Main St.) to discuss the opening of a Senior Citizens' Club for the area north of this town.

In his opening remarks, Mrs. Armstrong said that it had been in the minds of the Queen Street Senior Citizens' Club members, and she thought that an open club to which people of all denominations could adhere was a better idea, as she was pleased that Mr. J. Thompson was present to address the meeting.

Mr. Thompson, Director of Recreation, then spoke and remarked that his job was to provide for the recreation of active people of both sexes. There are over 100 people over 60 years of age in the district and he felt that the recreation department should be arranging programs for the older people through the Community Progress Branch. He said this was not the right time of the year to commence a club, but he felt that a meeting should be arranged in the fall to discuss the program for the future. He then introduced Miss H. Carr, Assistant Director for Programs for Older People Clubs, who had come from Toronto to address the meeting.

Miss Carr said that old people are inclined to lose interest in things around them when they are not in a club. "If," she declared, "we want our older citizens to 'stay alive', then their own club is the answer. We are inclined to reject the old people and tell them 'Don't do this' or 'Don't do that'—the way they do themselves more harm and so on. I feel that older people know when they have reached their limits and would not get on if they felt it would be harmful to do so, and in their own clubs they could do things amongst themselves that were suitable for their age." She said there were four main reasons for such a club: 1. Security; 2. Romance; 3. Recreation; 4. Adventure.

A club, she stated, can provide security by helping with information about such things as medical help, housing, etc. It could also supply emergency services for part-time work, and so on. Response would include affection and understanding which all older people seek. They like to talk over things with people who will listen, a thing they often can't find at home. They make friends with folk of their age and are more inclined to open up and chat freely with such friends.

Recognition is another need of older people like to be known and addressed as Mr. or Mrs. So-and-so and not just referred to as "Granny" or "Granny" and the club supplies them. Lindsay officials arrange for older folk, she remarked, but trips and outings arranged for older people could be quite an adventure for people who have been too busy during their lives to get far away from their work. Painting, handicrafts and such hobbies could be the subject of talks to them, and might lead to classes in these subjects, and so on. In fact, she said, there is a need for the older people to help in community work. Facilities would be required for such a club such as a room with a cool atmosphere, tables on the main floor, good lighting, high-top stools, and so on. The means for providing tea or coffee, as this was a great comfort to the older people. If a kitchen was not available a hot burner helps on a table behind a screen would do. All this, of course, would require financing, but Miss Carr said it had been found that sponsors could be forthcoming who would contribute the regular variable amount, which was afterwards collected by the sale of refreshments or small fees from the club members. Special remarks could be arranged in future clubs and the use of any articles made in the handicraft classes which might be held.

Plans shown held by the older people themselves had also proved competitive to other clubs. There would be a need to help to get a club started, but after the first few months they should be encouraged to run their own affairs.

Cherfulness
 Give us, oh, give us the sun who sings at his work. He is not conscious what it may be, he is equal to any of those who follow the same result in silent industries. He does not in the same time—his work is better—he will persevere longer.
 —Thomas Carlyle.

Anniversary celebrations are currently in progress at one of Lindsay's major industries—Viking Company. It is just 10 years since the company commenced actual operations in the town. It was a year earlier—August 16, 1949—that it incorporated as a limited company in Ontario and two months later, on an October day, the official opening ceremony was performed on the site of the present plant. First officers of the company were carried out by the Viking and the other members of the staff, and the company has made significant contributions to the town's employment and economic life. A special staff publication anniversary had just been released commemorating the firm's 10th and it contains the following statistics which are of interest at this time: "In 1949, the number of employees at Viking Company had increased from a handful in 1949 to about 75 in 1959. The total payroll during that time was over eight million dollars, now a division of the company, Viking Ltd., some 100 employees are employed in the company's projects at Lindsay. In the year 1959, Division President, Larry Hanson is shown participating in the presentation of the 10th anniversary award to the president of the presentation. Mr. Hanson received a beautiful enamel clock in recognition of his 10 years service with the firm and the last making the presentation is executive vice-president, P. F. Van der Horst, presented an engraved travel alarm clock to Mr. Gordon Boyd, sales manager in public service to the Lindsay plant. Immediately below is a picture of the company's first factory site at Lindsay, the first factory site and the former Viking Ltd. building, which is still going up on the site of the present plant. The building of Lindsay industry, supplied with Viking Company management, as from their own committee, and a program should be arranged to provide opportunities for Mr. Hanson, Mr. Van der Horst, and the Training workshops on this subject are given by the Community Progress Branch. The firm's 10th anniversary celebration was a great success and the older people should be given every opportunity to help themselves and give them a greater interest in their club.

The opening was then spent for questions and discussion and it was decided to form a temporary Community Council of two representatives from all the clubs in the district and other residents in Lindsay to operate in the fall to start such a club.

Some of the greatest physicians I have known could pain for bone-knocks, clerks or mechanics. I recall an outstanding surgeon of a great medical school who always improved me as being an exceptionally good carpenter or plumber. He was plain, self-effacing and "real".

In medicine, as in any other endeavor, the truly great are easy to respect. Patients always seem surprised at this. When I have had occasion to send a patient to a "great man" for consultation, the patient usually returns saying: "What a wonderful man. He was so easy to talk to; so friendly and ordinary."

Now, what I am going to say will perhaps not fair. There are always exceptions. But somehow I always misread the doctor who tries to "look too much like a doctor" or

"not too much like one."
 I always wonder what is to be done by

Miss Nancy Walton receives gift from Lindsay WI

The June meeting of the Lindsay WI was held recently at the Town Hall and was presided by a pot luck supper to which the members had contributed delicious cold meats, salads, pies and a delightful strawberry shortcake. The president, Miss L. Hutton, was in the chair and the meeting which followed was opened by the singing of the Ode to the Queen, and the reciting of the Mary Stewart Credo and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Hutton said how pleased she was to welcome back Mrs. Wallis to this meeting, after an absence of four years, and also welcomed back the Misses McPadden and Mrs. Manserv, who had all been absent for some time through sickness. After the roll call the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. V. Rogers read the minutes of the last meeting, and presented the financial statement. The correspondence was then dealt with and a letter read out from the Canadian Cancer Society, requesting a donation for their work. After discussion it was decided to send a donation to this Society. The reports of the various standing committees were then given and Mrs. Williams read a very interesting report from Mr. A. A. Wilson's address to the 40th Annual Convention of the Ontario Urban School Trustees Association.

A report was read from Mrs. Pittman on her recent visit to the 16th Annual Conference of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Council for the Blind. A very interesting "International" poem was read which is the opening ode used in the W.I.'s in New Zealand in which Canada is included as "Land of the Maple Leaf and Golden Grain." In her report the Press Representative drew attention to the recent museum which has been opened in Lindsay and said how much the W.I. could assist by supplying any information they now possessed on the history of Lindsay and district. She mentioned that a Senior Citizens Club would be formed in the Fall for Lindsay and also mentioned on the fate of the Victorian Order of Nurses which might be discontinued if more support was not received from the population of the town. Some discussion followed on an exhibit at the Fall Fair by the Institute and it was finally decided to enter again this year. Mrs. H. Neale kindly consented to be the convener, with Mrs. H. Colclough, Mrs. L. Hutton and Mrs. L. Dayman as her committee. As the next meeting is September, coming during the Fair week, it was decided to hold it on the 16th of September in order that members could save before the event. The annual tea, lecture and bazaar will be the next item to be discussed and this will be held on October 21st with Mrs. Dayman as convener. The meeting this year will be to Ottawa on the 21st July. Mrs. Rogers will be in charge and a luncheon will be held on that date. It was reported that a beautiful letter writing, case and matching penholder presented to Miss Nancy Walton by the Lindsay WI and she was very pleased indeed to receive the gift. Miss Walton has joined the Joy Pollard, and after a brief period of training in San Francisco will be appearing with them in their shows. Mrs. E. Taylor then presented her report on the recent District WI annual conference which had been held at the Peterborough Mallard Festival. Mrs. L. Hutton then announced a presentation was shortly to be made at the home of Mrs. A. Curlew, the lady representing the District President, to Mrs. Curlew, of a Maple Leaf pin, before her journey to Scotland, Scotland, as delegate at the meeting of the C.W.W. The minutes of the 16th conference, consisting of Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Neale, Mrs. Dayman, Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Williams, were then presented with cups and sanities by Mrs. Taylor, in recognition of all the hard work that had been done by them and has been much appreciated by the members. It was also reported that Mrs. Joy Pollard is again in hospital that Mrs. Long is not at all well and would like a visit from any of the members, and sympathy was expressed for Mrs. Walton in the recent passing of her husband.

The National Anthem was read and the meeting closed after a very enjoyable and successful evening. Mrs. Williams was the convener for the pot luck supper.

H.M.Y. BRITANNIA on which Queen Elizabeth II and the Prince Philip will visit the Seaway area and Ontario Lake ports

welcomes Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and His Royal Highness the Prince Philip for the opening of the ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY

Route of 1959 Royal Visit to Ontario—Commencing June 27th

The Government and the people of Ontario welcome Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, and His Royal Highness the Prince Philip, to our great Province.

With the official opening of The St. Lawrence Seaway by Her Gracious Majesty, the worthy dream of years becomes a reality. Now open to deep-water shipping of the world, our Lake Ports will provide access to the heartland of the Continent—and from them, as ocean ports, will go forward, into world trade channels, Canada's and Ontario's raw materials and manufactured goods.

Out of this Development has also come the great Provincial power project—in which Ontario has made a vast financial investment—providing additional power resources which can be used to increase our industrial, agricultural and economic strength.

Proud to be a partner in the British Commonwealth of Nations, our Canadian Nation rejoices in and looks forward to the Royal visit. It will be marked by many memorable events. They will be of great historic significance, providing opportunity as well to show to the Queen of Canada the unfailing loyalty, devotion and affection of her Canadian people.

May the visit to Ontario of our Gracious Sovereign be a pleasant one, as we pay her due homage.
